Wilk: Sorrentino's Canadian Textbook for the Support Worker, 5th Edition

Chapter 35: Speech and Language Disorders

Objectives

After reading this chapter, the learner should be able to do the following:

- Describe types of aphasia.
- Describe apraxia of speech.
- Describe dysarthria.
- Describe how speech and language disorders are treated.
- Identify what communication aids are and how they assist the client.
- Describe how computers can assist clients with speech disorders.
- Describe the emotional effects of a language disorder.
- Describe how to communicate with clients with language disorders.
- Apply the procedures described in this chapter to clinical practice properly.
- aphasia
- expressive aphasia
- receptive aphasia
- expressive aphasia
- dysarthria
- apraxia of speech
- what is the difference between developed apraxia of speech
- what conditions cause each one of the speech/language disorders